

Storm Rider are an Icelandic based, family run business.

They are continually working with a variety of leading industry professionals to optimise their products for both the horse and the rider.

The company's main goal is to produce top quality, long lasting products at an affordable price.

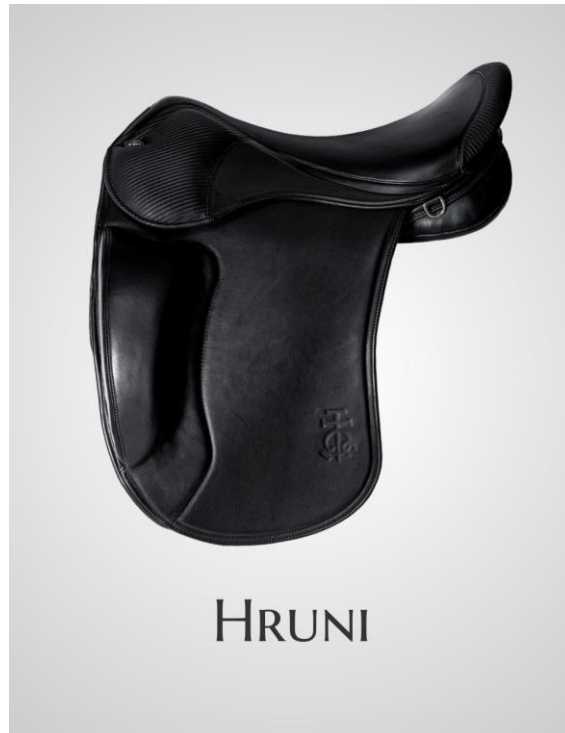

Storm Rider saddles and equipment are crafted using excellent quality, European leather and fittings.

The panels used are designed to allow the shoulder maximum freedom and the gullet channel is set wide for optimum fit and weight distribution.

The saddles are made with a flexible spring tree and have an adjustable, coloured gullet system.

All are available to order in 16.5", 17" and 17.5" and with the choice of either latex or wool flocking.

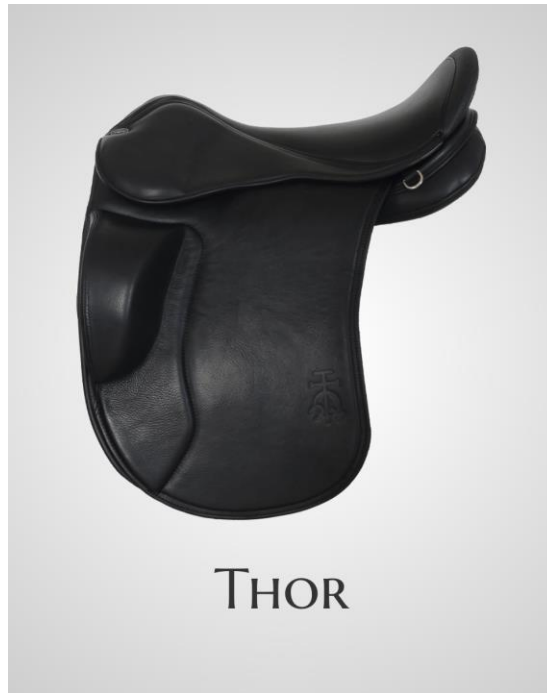

Hruni is a more traditional style Icelandic saddle with longer thigh and knee blocks to encourage the rider's leg to drop downwards in a secure and effective position, offering good support and a steady leg position.

The leather is textured in areas to help reduce any unwanted movement in the saddle, allowing the rider to sit quietly and securely.

This saddle is an excellent choice for a variety of different riders and also a very suitable choice for a variety of different disciplines.

A real favourite with riders who like to get out and about.

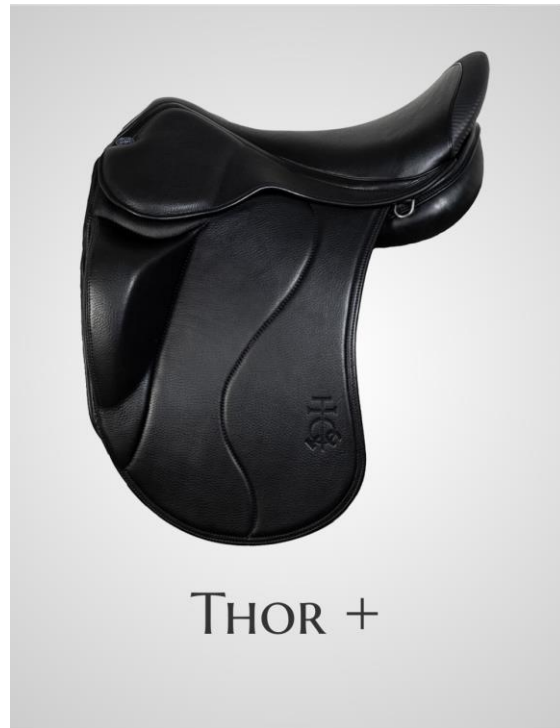

Thor has been designed to allow the rider to sit in the deepest part of the saddle, in a still, well balanced and classical position. Offering close contact and clear, subtle communication between horse and rider.

Thigh blocks mainly support the thigh instead of the knee, offering good support and steadiness of the leg.

Thor is an excellent choice for riders who are concentrating on training, schooling or track work. It is also very suitable for leisure riding, helping to sit the rider up and in a very well balanced and secure position.

This saddle can suit many different horses and not solely Icelandics.

Thor+ is designed as an all round saddle, suitable for a variety of different riding disciplines.

Thor+ has a similar seat to the Thor model but is designed to allow the rider a little more room.

It comes with a longer thigh block to also support the knee, this gives the rider's leg good, all round support, helping to encourage a long and steady leg position.

Girths

The Storm Rider leather girths are made to compliment the range of saddles and again are very good quality and long lasting.

They are wide and ergonomically shaped with elastic at the buckle to help relieve any pressure. They also have a cut away design so not to interfere with the horse's elbow when working.

The long buckle guards ensure protection of the horse's sides and the keepers eliminate any excess movement of the girth straps.

The girths feature softer leather on the underside with latex padding inside to make them comfortable for the horse. They have tougher leather facing outward to ensure that they are hard wearing.

These girths are available in 40cm, 45cm and 50cm.

Flex Stirrups

These stirrups are weighted perfectly and made to flex with the rider's ankle movement, helping to keep the foot in a better position and to keep the weight dropping more naturally down through the rider's heel. Very shock absorbing and extremely comfortable for the rider over long distances.

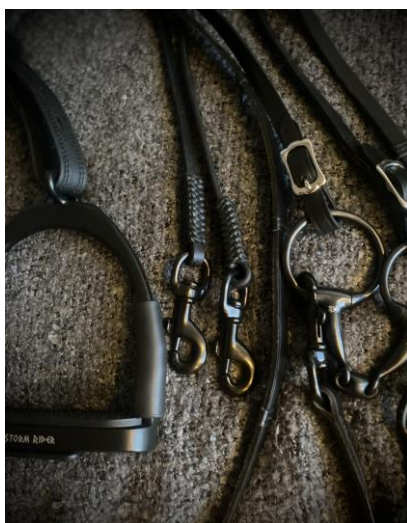

They also have the ever practical Icelandic way of hanging, allowing the stirrup leather to lie flat under the rider's leg.

These stirrups are proving very popular, especially with those who have suffered previous ankle or knee injuries.

They are available in two widths, 12cm and 12.5cm

Storm Rider also have a selection of good quality Bits, Bridles, Nosebands, Training Bridles, Reins, S-style stirrups, Gloves and T-bar Stirrup Leathers
